

BIG DOG

Marine LLC

29SEP2020

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Big Dog Marine LLC Launching new Carbon Canisters with Flame Resistant Heat Shields

Now approved for use in all vessel applications nationwide.

HIGHLAND, Michigan- Big Dog Marine LLC is pleased to announce it has completed rigorous validation testing for the new heat shielded series of carbon canisters. Testing included the 2.5min open flame test simulating a gasoline pool fire with temperatures exceeding 1200°F (648°C). This optional feature is required for applications including engine compartments and locations below the tank top surface. This completes the full line up of twenty-four variants in the carbon canister series and offers solutions to every vessel application nationwide. Earlier this year CARB approved the Big Dog Carbon Canister series making them legal for sale in all 50 states after previously receiving EPA Certificate of Conformance (COC) and meeting all USCG and ABYC performance standards.

The new Carbon Canister series represents the next generation of fuel products that have been designed and validated to be more efficient, lighter, smaller, and more effective than ever before. The new Carbon Canister series offers builders an easy “plug & play” swap to existing carbon canister systems. “The industry has been stagnant for a number of years with no real evolution or improvements to the carbon canisters available on the market” says Sean Whelan P.E., President of Big Dog Marine LLC. “Boat builders have a new choice for next generation diurnal Carbon Canisters based on their individual needs.”

Big Dog Marine LLC stands behind every product it offers with a 2-year Warranty covering against any manufacturing defect in material or workmanship. “Consumers and boat builders are counting on our products to perform reliably.” Sean Whelan P.E. continues, “There is an obligation to stand behind your product and guarantee a high level of quality.”

About Big Dog Marine LLC

The company is founded by marine diurnal fuel system pioneer Sean Whelan P.E. with a mission to provide “Value Through Engineering”. Big Dog Marine LLC has a singular purpose to provide boat builders with high quality carbon canisters at the lowest cost possible. The products are high quality, 100% digitally inspected for pressure and flow performance, and come with world class technical expertise and support. The Carbon Canister series offers assemblies in virtually any size and configuration including heat shielded assemblies and ratings up to 550gal fuel tank size. For more information please go to www.bigdogmarinellc.com or email questions@bigdogmarinellc.com .

[Sean Whelan P.E.]

(248) 705-2875

[President- Big Dog Marine LLC]

Sean.whelan@bigdogmarinellc.com